You are invited to attend this two-hour introductory session on understanding your interpersonal relationships.

The Imago approach to relationships helps to clarify what happens as we fall in and out of love and provides a deeper understanding of the nature of conflict in couples. This interactive presentation will provide insight on understanding relationship conflict and transforming differences into more loving, passionate, fulfilling relationships. Topics will include:

- Discovering the roots of conflict
- Exploring relationship stages
- Communication – fuel or tool?
- Managing conflict & differences with new skills
- Developing deeper connections

Suitable for singles, couples, professionals, managers, family members – come on your own or bring your partner

Presented by: Wendy Lawson M.Sc.(Psychology)Stell.

Wendy specialises her work on building and improving interpersonal relationships. Continually intrigued by the importance of effective communication in relationships, Wendy is trained in and uses the Imago methodology to create awareness, unblock interpersonal barriers, and coach dialogue techniques to unlock the full potential of relationships. In addition to private relationship building sessions, Wendy also facilitates relationship workshops, and is passionate about assisting her clients to develop insights and new skills, and to rediscover hope, energy and fun in their relationships. Wendy is actively involved in the Imago Relationships network of practitioners in the Cape and is married (19 years) and has two loving teenage daughters.
